

A level Photography Holiday work

Document a journey. This may be via any mode of transport. It may be outside or it may be a journey around a building.

Here are a few things to get you thinking about how you might take your photos.

- Experiment with view points, look up and look down. Take a photo from a high vantage point or aerial view. Get down on the ground, change the camera angle.
- Use frames through which to compose your image. Look through doors and windows or use people /bodies as frames.
- Look for large areas of light and dark, shadows and saturated light. Add interest and look for strong silhouettes or shadows?
- Is there a central point of interest? What is the eye drawn to? Are the main points of interest well placed within the composition?

Above all though take loads and try to be as experimental as possible.

You must look at the website 'art2day' and choose at least 2 photographers from the digital photography list and respond to their work.
